The Corporate Brokers approach to managing today's highly discerning staffing requirements stands well apart from the competition. With an innate high-touch philosophy, we employ industry-leading practices that deliver much more than a mere name and high-mileage resume to a client in need.

"Our clients value the time and detail we invest in substantiating each and every candidate that we present," says managing member Shane Ireland. "There are literally hundreds of other staffing firms that can deliver a hasty stack of resumes at a moment's notice. But our methodology provides our clients with a superior group of pre-screened consultants to choose from, which helps to greatly reduce the guesswork."

Ireland's partner, Quinn Salamandra agrees, and freely admits that the Corporate Brokers approach is not for everyone. "We're not looking to compete in arenas where it's strictly a numbers game. Instead, we strive for a true partnership experience with everyone on our client roster, where we can seriously upgrade the quality of the potential candidate and the entire hiring experience."
